Fun Factory International was set up in it's current form in 1990 from an Entertainment Booking & Artist Bureau dating back to 1978, which evolved and grew with the ever changing needs of the demanding Entertainment world.

We were the First in Continental Europe to offer many brand new activities, including the revolutionary Velcro Jumping Wall. Since 1990, we have increased our range of event equipment to it's current spectrum covering almost everything required for a succesful event, whether it is a corporate, club, private, sports or promotional event.

A major move and a substantial investment has been made into the areas of trade promotions, Team events, Corporate activities, International sports events, Public Relations projects, and more recently Fun Food items, and event support items. No job is too small or (to date) too big for us to handle equally professionally, efficiently and to the satisfaction of our customers.

Enclosed in this package are just a small selection of our current range, including the «Worlds longest Inflatable Obstacle Course», a 100m x 15m action-packed megazone, Various reaction & agility systems as used by Formula 1 teams, The Fun Factory «Company Olympics» concept, The forever popular Human Table Football, The worlds longest Table Football (22 players). Sports zones and complete Fan-park concepts. Stages, Tents, Sound & lighting are also in stock.

These, and hundreds of our other games have already been used by many International corporations, with many hundreds of thousands of people in 40 countries throughout the world having actually tried them at very high profile events.

In addition to the above items, Fun Factory have been actively involved in many similar promotional projects and events over as many years, and has accumulated a vast and valuable experience, plus a priceless positive reputation in these varied markets.

For Corporate imaging & general branding, promotional banners can be manufactured to fit all panels on the various inflatable sections, and the units can usually be set up by our own teams in a matter of hours or less.

Team Building is an area of eventing in which we are increasingly active, especially considering the suitability of our stock of activities, games and challenges.

A very wide range of physical, mental, and psychological activities for every personality can be added to an event, to suit every element which can benefit the ever increasing demands on modern managers, employees and directors.

We are also able to offer a number of other shows & activities, which can be operated in a variety of styles. These are currently not carrying the names of any sponsor, and can be easily adapted to your purpose.

In a number of large events throughout Europe, we have been assigned a designated area to create a real "Fun Factory" zone with great success, using a wide range of entertaining and creative concepts.

Many of the activities and shows have been brought to Scandinavia for the first time by us, and several more of these have been uniquely modified by us to increase the spectator and / or participant enjoyment and promotional value

It is our constant goal to be on the cutting edge of the entertainment business, and this is why we travel worldwide to be able to be the first with new ideas in order to provide for the ever demanding needs of our customers. Recent sucesses in the Australian market have resulted in the setting up of a sister company based outside Melbourne Australia. This has given us a truly global perspective in an event sector in which we can now call ourselves specialists.

We hope you will be inspired, entertained, and informed by the following pages, which are only a selection of our full catalogue. We warmly welcome any enquiries you may have relating to all other aspects of your event.

4 Please don't forget, our experience and free advice is only a telephone call away...

Corporate Events

Also referred to as the "Company Olympics", or Family Fun Day, depending on the participation aspect of the event. Usually a competitive inter departmental challenge, where team scoring and a table structure will be organised, scoring displays set up, and a central live stage, PA System and commentary position. Due to a wide range of individual requirements, these events are structured according to your specific needs and budget.

Private Events

From a simple Child's birthday party to a range of Club events, Anniversaries, Weddings or Ad Hoc gatherings. Fun food production and serving can also be provided, together with any specific Entertainment, Mobile Disc Jockeys or Live bands. We can also assist in choosing a location for the event from our selection of professional event partners

Promotional Events

A wide range of corporate branded items and activities can be provided for Trade Shows, Launches, Kick offs, Fan Parks, and Sports Sponsored events. Fun Factory International has a very wide range of experiences providing and assisting in the operation at these types of events World-wide. Our crew is hand picked for each particular project, depending on the product, location and event profile.

Event Support items

Any event has its own requirement of support items, whether tenting, Sound & lighting for stage, Floodlighting, Flooring, Power requirements, Decor or even furniture and refreshments. We are heavily stocked with a huge range of these and more. A Generous package can be offered with your activity requirements, and often pleasantly within budget.
